Instructors

Harvey Burns is a Certified Advanced Rolfer™ and Rolfing® Instructor and began working as a Rolfer™ in 1985. After beginning to work in London he has worked in Munich and Vienna for the last 12 years.

Before his career as a Rolfer™, Harvey worked as a professional percussionist with a widespread style repertoire. To him, Rolfing® means not only an effective and dynamic form of body work but also a means to support people in developing their creative potentials.

Rita Geirola is a Certified Rolfer™ since 1987 and a Rolf Movement™ Practitioner since 1997. She also is an Advanced Rolfer™ since 2005. Her background are studies in the field of Physical Education and of the Mézières Method. She is certified as a Feldenkrais Practitioner since 1992 and a Pilates Instructor since 1998.

Her main curiosity is in finding different approaches and different languages to be able to tune with individual client's needs and resources in order to achieve a full development of their potentiality and integration. The work with Hubert Godard and Peter Levine and the point of view of M. Feldenkrais have had a deep impact on her personal and professional development. They are also the bases of her teaching.

Konrad Obermeier is a Certified Advanced Rolfer™ and Rolf Movement™ Practitioner. He is member of the Life Sciences Faculty of the Rolf Institute (USA) and Anatomy Instructor for the European Rolfing® Association.

He is practicing as Rolfer™ in Munich since 1991 and teaches workshops in Visceral Manipulation and Embryology. Over the past 20 years he has contributed in different settings to the educational processes of Rolfing® Cranio-Sacral Therapy, Visceral Osteopathy, Continuum Movement and Yoga.
